

6516209159.txt

To whom it may concern:

XMradio is a very valuable tool when traveling across the country. I know exactly where to go to get information on local weather and travel when I need the information. You never know where on the dial local radio stations are located. It takes too long to find them and then they only tell the weather or travel information 2 to 3 times every hour.

xmradio is a very good product and I urge you to leave it alone. I pay for the service it provides and only people that pay can get the programming.

Thank you
Rick Handy